RF TECHNOLOGY
Radiofrequency heats the tissue, stimulates collagen and elastin synthesis, and improves skin tone and elasticity. It helps reduce wrinkles, provides a lifting effect, enhances glow, and long-termly restores the skin structure. For home use, it is best paired with gels such as ultrasound gel or aloe vera gel for optimal results.

EMS TECHNOLOGY

EMS TECHNOLOGY
EMS therapy stimulates facial muscles using pulsating currents, encouraging their contraction and strengthening. The result is improved muscle tone, a lifting effect, wrinkle reduction, better circulation, and lymphatic drainage, leading to firmer and revitalized skin.

LED THERAPY

LED THERAPY
Light therapy involves the application of different light spectra and colors to address specific facial concerns. LED therapy can have an anti-aging effect, even out skin tone, reduce inflammation, or soothe the skin. Regular use of LED therapy promotes healthier skin and enhances its natural glow.
